The Bucknell University Entrepreneurs Incubator (BUEI) nurtures and accelerates the successful growth of start-up companies by providing entrepreneurs with inexpensive office space, basic business services and assistance through referrals to a network of business development resources. Being a member of the BUEI also gives companies the opportunity to partner with Bucknell University and to grow their business in an entrepreneurial environment that fosters innovation and collaboration among clients.

The Bucknell Small Business Development Center, which offers free and low-cost consulting and training services, is conveniently located one floor above the BUEI. See www.bucknell.edu/SBDC.

In addition, businesses that operate out of the BUEI may qualify for Greater Susquehanna Keystone Innovation Zone assistance and benefits, including tax credits. See www.gskiz.org for more information.
